Eixos de Demarcação

A dimly lit room, possibly a gallery or a small theater, with several people silhouetted against the light. They are looking towards a large projection screen at the front of the room. The screen displays a bright, abstract image. In the foreground, a small, glowing robot with a green light on its body and blue and red lights on its head is on the floor. The room has a rustic feel, with a patterned curtain and some items hanging on the wall.
